PREFACE

E have no apologies to offer for bringing out the revised and enlarged edition of "WHO'S WHO IN INDIA, BURMA & CEYLON". 1939.

This publication first issued to the public in 1930 to meet a long-felt want of this country and its neighbours has been brought up-to-date from year to year.

In England, the Who's Who publications are works of daily, nay hourly, reference in millions of home. In every Western Country, the "Who's Who" plays an important part in the social, political and other spheres of national life. In India, however, in the absence of a Comphrensive compilation of this kind, people had been put to considerable inconvenience for years, and precious time, energy, and money had to be expended over information which could be gathered in a second by immediate reference to a book such as ours.

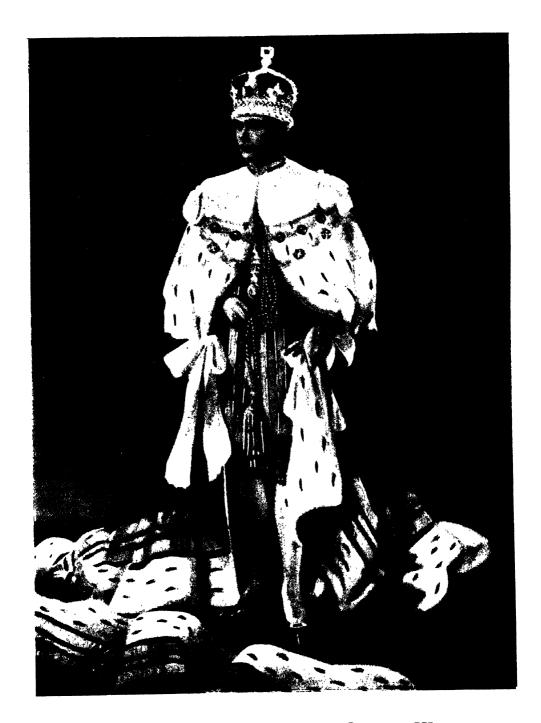

The "Who's Who" whose revised edition we are offering to the public has been evolved through a number of years, every item of information being carefully studied and verified. It is, therefore, a standard work of reference for every modern home and for every business and Commercial House.

The publishers have spared no pains in bringing the compilation up-to-date, and it is their proud claim that this book which represents every interest and liberal profession, stands unrivalled among publications of its kind.

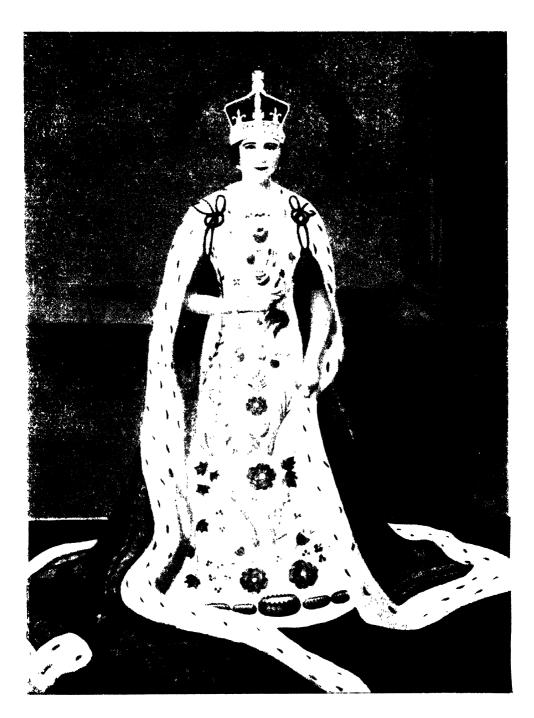

The publishers gratefully acknowledge their indebtedness to the authors and publishers of some of the reference books and periodicals which proved very useful to them in their compilation.

Bombay, 30th Dec. 1939. Thos. Peters

His Imperial Majesty King George VI.

Her Majesty the Queen.

His Imperial Majesty King George VI

His Majesty King George VI. Prince Albert Arthur Frederick George, second son of His late Majesty King George V and Queen Mary, was born on 14th December, 1895, at York Cottage, Sandringham. At the time of his birth, his great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, was still on the throne, while his grandfather, afterwards Edward VII, was Prince of Wales. His Parents were merely Duke and Duchess of York Prince Albert received his early education at the hands of able tutors like Mr. Hansell.

Like his father and his great-uncle, the young Prince was destined for the Navy. In 1909, he went to Osborne and remained there for two years' training at Dartmouth. In 1913, he went for his first cruise in H. M. S. "Cumberland," which took him to Canada and West Indies; and he was the first among his brothers to see the Americas. On his return, he was gazetted a midshipman, and joined H. M. S. "Collingwood" in Sept. 1913. On the outbreak of war, he proceeded on active service with the Grand Fleet. but in September 1914, he was found to be suffering from appendicitis. After a successful operation, he joined duty with the fleet in 1916, at the time of the battle of Jutland. His services as sub-Lieutenant, the rank which he held then, were mentioned in Admiral Jellicoe's despatch. He was promoted to acting Licutenant in September, 1916, but his health would not permit him to continue a sea career, and he was subsequently appointed to the "Victory," on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth. He was made Knight of the Garter on 14th December 1916, on the occasion of his twentyfirst birthday. In November 1917, he was appointed to the Royal Naval Air Force at Cranwell, and in April 1918, he was transferred to the R. A. F. He became Squadron-Leader in 1919; Wing-Commander, in 1920; Group Captain, 1921; Air Vice-Marshal, 1932; Air Ministry, January 1. 1936; Air Chief Marshal, June 23, 1936; and Marshal of the Royal Air Force, December 11, 1936.

The War being over, his energies were turned to the problems of Peace. In October 1919, he went to Cambridge with his brother, Prince Henry, as an undergraduate at the Trinity College. He worked hard, took a course in Civics, of which history and economics are the principal ingredients, though it touches on such matters as capital and labour, the functions of government, and the meaning and quality of citizenship. In 1920, he was created Baron Killarney, Earl of Inverness, and Duke of York. Took his seat in the House of Lords. Became the President of the Industrial Welfare Society whose aim is to bring about a revival of the spirit of industrial comradeship.

In 1923, King George and Queen Mary announced their approval of the engagement of their second son to Lady Elizabeth Angela Marguerite Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the 14th Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne. The marriage took place in Westminster Abbey on 26th April 1923, with great national rejoicing.

The Royal couple lived at White Lodge, Richmond, a prelude to taking up residence at 145 Piccadilly, but towards the end of 1924, the Duke, accompanied by the Duchess, left for an African tour, and after visiting Kenya Colony, Uganda, and the Sudan, arrived home in April 1925. On arrival in England, the Duke became busy with the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, of which he was the President. In 1926, their first child was born, Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, who now stands next in succession to the British Throne. A much larger journey was undertaken when King George deputed his second son to perform the opening ceremony of the Federal Parliament House in the Federal city of Canberra. Everywhere their reception was overwhelmingly enthusiastic, and everywhere their days were crowded. They returned to London in 1927.

In August, 1930, Princess Margaret Rose was born at Glamis Castle. The Duke has been busy, constantly visiting Industrial Areas. He was appointed Chairman of the Advisory Council of King George's Jubilee Trust, and after the death of his father, became High Steward of the Borough of Windsor. In July 1935, the Duke, accompanied by the Duchess, flew to Brussels to visit the International Exhibition, and in September of the same year he flew to Belgium to represent King George at the funeral of Queen Astrid. When King George's life was drawing to its close, he returned to London with Ex-King Edward to shoulder the burdens of State as Heir Presumptive to the Throne, which he became on the death of his father.

When King Edward succeeded to the Throne the Duke was compelled to accept a number of Presidencies of hospitals which King Edward was holding as Prince of Wales.

The reign of King Edward VIII came to an end at 1:52 P. M., Friday, the 11 December 1936; when he announced his abdication to both Houses of Parliament and executed the Instrument of Abdication. Simultaneously the Duke of York succeeded his brother as King and took the title of King George VI.

The proclamation of our only lawful and rightful liege Lord George the VI, was made throught India on Monday, 14th December 1936.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth

Lady Elizabeth Angela Marguerite Bowes-Lyon, youngest daughter of the 14th Earl of Strathmore, was born at her father's English home, St. Paul's Waldenbury, Hertfordshire, on 4th August, 1900. When she was four years old, her father succeeded as 14th Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne, becoming the head of one of the oldest of Scotland's noble families.

Her childhood was spent chiefly at Waldenbury, and she was educated at home under the supervision of her mother, whose literary taste she inherited. As a young girl she was a Girl Guide and she personally trained the Glamis Troop. During the Great War she did whatever a girl of fourteen could do to help her mother and sisters in ministering to the soldiers' and sailors' families.

The Court Circular on January 16, 1923, announced the engagement of the Duke of York to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, adding, "to which the King has gladly given his consent." The public equally and gladly gave its consent. From the moment of her engagement, she came under the critical eye of the public and she passed the test with flying colours, so that when the marriage took place on April 26, 1923, it was the occasion of great national rejoicing, heartfelt and sincere.

After the honeymoon, the Royal couple lived at White Lodge, Richmond Park, afterwards moving to 145 Piccadilly.

In the autumn of 1923 the Duke and Duchess paid their first foreign State visit to Serbia and received an uproarious welcome. Their next voyage was to East Africa, and then to Australia where they have gained the admiration and deep affection of all.

The Duchess became the mother of a daughter on 21st April 1926, on the birth of Princess Elizabeth, a most winning attractive child. Since then the Duchess has stood for all that British motherhood demands, yet never for a moment allowing the claims of the home to encroach on her public duties. Her second daughter, Princess Margaret Rose, was born on 21st August 1930, at Glamis Castle, and the choice of the name Margaret delighted all the Scottish people.

The Duchess has received honorary degrees at Oxford, Glasgow, Belfast, St. Andrews, Brisbane, Melbourne, and Adelaide universities. As Duchess of York she was Colonel-in-Chief of King's own Yorkshire Light Infantry, and Honorary Colonel of the London Scottish (14th London Regiment). She was also a patron of the Royal Horticultural Society.

Shortly after the accession, King George VI conferred the Most Noble Order of the Garter on his so well-beloved consort, who is also a Lady of the Order of the Crown of India, a Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order, and a Dame Grand Cross of the British Empire. The King has been pleased on the occassion of his Majesty's Coronation to confer upon the Queen the title and diginity of a lady of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle and the Royal Victorian Chain.

OONIM is now manufactured in England according to this new formula. It is not a stimulant, but a powerful glandvitamin tonic, taken by young and old alike. OONIM comes in special Keratin Coated capsules, so that the potent glandular extracts are not destroyed by the acidic-gastric jui-ces. OONIM is not a "dope" or a "stimulant." It does not contain any temporary sti-mulating drugs like strychnine, yohim-bine, kola, damiana, etc. OONIM for-mula is open for your inspection and is printed (the exact ingredients and their proportions) on every container of OONIM. It is purely a gland-vitamin food and can be taken by young and old alike. The success of Gland-Vitamin capsules OONIM was amply demonstrated by Portsmouth and Wolverhampton in the Football Agsociation Cup Final at Wembley this year. This gland-vitamin treatment was upheld by the Minister of Health in the British Parliament. No other tonic in the world has received such a recognation. This in itself is a guarantee of the genuinity and crystaline purity (it is perfectly drugless and harmless) of OONIM. We recommend every athlete and professional man to take a six to twelve weeks course of OONIM before entering into any sport requiring the maximum of physical and mental energy. OONIM benefits all. Coital Technique in Marriage and Birth Control by Nature By Prof. SAMUEL SHAW.

(WORLD'S GREATEST AUTHORITY ON SEX)

PRIVATE-TO MEN

If you are a married man, you should have a strictly private talk with yourself, and asked your conscience the following question:

"Am I just as attractive to my wife now as I was when at my best? Is it not true that I am losing my hold upon her good opinion and slipping away from her respect?"

Then without letting her know, practice the technique presented in the above monographs and day by day note how her old esteem for you will come back. It is surprising.

PRIVATE-TO WOMEN

If you are a married woman, ask yourself:

"Am I just as attractive to my husband as I was during courtship? If not, why not? Am I gradually slipping away from his regard and devotion?"

What would you give to have them back again? Do not say a word. Just study and practice the technique presented in the above monograph and note how quickly he finds you the same attractive woman he first supposed you to be: beautiful, sweet, lovable. No other power on earth can bring about this result except the right use of sex force as shown in the above book.

"SEXUAL UNION IS A SCIENCE"

says Balzac and whoever is not thoroughly conversant with the basis of this science, should not be surprised if any unhappy marriage or divroce results. A recent confidential survey among physicians wives revealed the surprising fact that even among these women, more than 50% confessed dis-satisfaction in their love lives. A noted Solicitor whose practice is largely concerned with matrimonial cases, has given it as his opinion that as many as eighty percent of divorces are due to ignorance of Cottal Technique in marriage.

A CHALLENGE TO PRUDES

The above monograph contains everything the curious, inexperienced, just married and the most blase much married divorcee might want to know from the first awakening of youthful love to the full consummation of this grand passion in the privacy of the bridal chamber. It is an endless source of intimate, intriguing information—in the frank words of the present day youth, answering the questions you might even hesitate to ask your closest friend. It is a daring, exotically illustrated, privately printed monograph—brimful of naked truth, unashamed facts, frank discussions, and twenty-three daring original illustrations (for the first time allowed by law) of the various techniques to be employed and postures assumed during love-making—to enjoy the acme of wedlock bliss.

No description can give you more than a hint of the value of the above monograph; the only way is to ORDER IT FOR YOURSELF RIGHT-AWAY. Yes, to-day-now-right-away send for this monograph. The new, revised and enlarged edition will be sent to you on receipt of Rs. 2/8. No. V.P.P. This monograph will not be sold under any circumstances or at any price, except to a bonafide married person. A declaration on eath in ink, in the person's own hand-writing must accompany every order, viz. "I solemnly declare on eath that I am married and want to use the information contained in your private monograph to hormonize the intimate relationship of wedlock. I swear on eath that I will not allow this monograph to fall in anybody's hand." Unless this declaration accompanies with every order, this monograph will not be sent under any circumstances. This monograph is strictly for private circulation. Is not sold at any book-store. It can only be had from:

ROYAL OONIM THE KING OF TONICS FOR THE RICH

What greater misfortune can there be than LOSS OF SEXUAL VIGOUR AND VITALITY in a man possessed of plenty. Literally, he starves amongst plenty. There is a "hidden secret" that runs through the lore of Ancient Egyptian and Hindu Medicine. This "hidden secret" has enabled the ancient Egyptian and Hindu Kings to preserve their SEXUAL VIGOUR to an advanced old age. The secret is not dead. This "hidden secret" has been unearthed and improved upon by the Wizards of Modern Medicine. Their researches have been incorporated into a modern tonic of miraculous power, known as ROYAL OONIM. This is not a secret remedy, but a really DRUGLESS and perfectly HARMLESS product made of METHYLTESTOSTERONE (chemically pure, testis hormone), GONADOTRO-PIC HORMONE of the ANTERIOR PITUI-TARY, THYROID HORMONE, SUPERARENAL CORTEX HORMONE, EPIDIDYMIS, PROSTATE, Synthetic Vitamin D, Vitamin B, Glycerophosphates, Calcium Salts in lipoid form and Poorna Chandrodaya. Royal Oonim NEVER FAILS to restore lost manhood however great the extent of the deterioration or how ADVANCE THE AGE and take effect at once succeeding even in long standing obstinate

This preparation must not be confounded with the customary stimulants, the action of which is transient, for the effect of this new ROYAL OONIM is not momentary, but permanent. The amazing and lasting restoration of power is altogether different to anything previously experienced and proves the immediate relationship between the regeneration of the cells of the cord" and the administration of gland hormones and vitamin".

He has been granted the rank and status of a first class Chief, with a salute of eleven guns, in recognition of his loval services during the European War. He

He is a vigorous writer to the press and is also the author of various publications including "India in Transition".

His Highness in the course of a cordial interview said, "From my young days, I had a terrific curiosity and everything interested me; so everything I saw or heard of, I wanted to probe its origin. Of course politics were a necessary consequence of my position and I have nearly spent my whole time in politics. My last four years were really the most interesting to me of my life, because we had on one side of the Round Table Conference Indian Delegations, and on the other side, British Delegates. And for two years, I was at the same time at Geneva in connection with the Disarmament Conference. Then there was the meeting of League of Nations and the China-Japanese Conference. So these were really of great interest to me."

"Whatever anybody may say of anything, we have got India one step nearer to our objective of full Dominion Status," His Highness observed. Concluding he said, "Since I was a boy of thirteen the debates of Gladstone. Chamberlain, Lord Rosebury and Salisbury interested and turned me towards politics. Men like late Justice Telang. late Justice Ranade and late Sir Pherozshah Mehta reproduced on a small scale in India the debates and the work of English orators. On one side, I read of political battles of Europe and on the other side. I saw and heard debates in Bombay and Poona. Since then I have become a politician."

KOLHAPUR

His Highness Colonel Shri Sir Rajaram Chhatrapati Maharaj, G.C.I.E., G.C.S.I., Maharaja of Kolhapur, is the eldest son of His Highness Colonel Shahu Chhatrapati Maharaj and direct descendant of Shivaji, the founder of the Great Maharatta

Empire. Born on 31st July 1897, he received his primary and secondary course studies privately at Kolhapur, and later on went to England further studies. Although it was the earnest desire of his father that he should specialise in agriculture so as to make the Prince fit to understand and appreciate the needs of the agricultural population of the State. the Prince had to return after three years stay in England account of the Great War. On his return journey home he visited a number of important places in America, China and Japan. He arrived in Kolhapur in October 1915, and when His Highness' late lamented father, Shri Shau Maharaj saw that his beloved son was able to finish the prescribed course of studies in agriculture, he sent him to Allahabad to join the Ewing Christian College and continue the same line of studies in Agriculture. Here again he was disappointed, as the rigours of Allahabad climate did not suite the young Prince who had therefore to return to Kolhapur after one year. Since then till the death of his father, the young prince spent most of his time in mastering the details of administration work with the help of the experienced officers of the State.

In 1922 on the death of his father he ascended the Gadi and has all along been following in the footsteps of his father for the progress of the State which has now reached the front rank of Indian States on this side of India.

In 1918, His Highness married his first wife, Her Highness Maharani Tarabai Saheb, grand daughter of H. H. the Maharaja Gaekwar of Baroda, and in 1925 his second wife, Her Highness Maharani Vijayamala Bai Saheb, a member of the Royal Maharata family of Tanjore.

His Highness from the very beginning has established the closest contact between his Government and his subjects by carrying out all measures of reform and development intended to raise the State to a high standard of administrative efficiency by increasing the prosperity of his subjects. Money has been and is being freely spent for the well-being of his subjects in diverse ways, especially for purposes of education, public health, medical relief improvement of communications and the establishment of Illakha Panchayats. One notes with pleasure that the city has been considerably improved in various ways, almost out of recognition, within the last few years—new and beautiful roads parks, sparkling fountains and pucca buildings galore - and that a number of suburbs have also been opened. It is said of His Highness that even the smallest details of administration do not escape his attention and that there is no subject nearer to his heart than the welfare of his subjects, poor and rich alike. His Highness is very methodical in his daily life. "There is a time for everything and everything in its time," has always been the motto of his life. He is a genial host and is very much liked for his suavity of manners. He is very simple in his habits and is freely accessible to his people. As the premier Maharatta ruler, His Highness is proud of the military achievements of the race of which he is the crowned head. The title of G.C.S.I., was conferred on His Highness in January 1931 by his Majesty The King Emperor, in appreciation of the good Government and sound and liberal administration which have characterised his ten years' regime. He was made an Hon. Lt. Col. in the Indian Army in 1927: and an Honorary Colonel of the 11th Battalion, and 5th Maharatta Light Infantry, Belgaum, 1938.

His Highnes is a keen sportsman and is fond of riding, pig-sticking, cheetah hunting, and all other manly sports. He owns a good string of race horses and is very popular in the racing world. His magnificent stud of breeding, racing and riding horses will compare with any in or outside India.

Salute—19 guns.

Address-Kolhapur.

The Late Prince Shivaji Maharaj

Prince Shivaji Maharaj alias Buvasaheb Maharaj, the late young brother of H. H. the Maharaja of Kolhapur, was born on 15th April 1899.

Along with his elder brother, H. H. the Maharaja of Kolhapur. the late Prince Shivaji received his primary and secondary education at Kolhapur and later on was sent to England for further studies. He and his brother returned to India in October 1915. and were sent to Allahabad to receive traning in Agriculture. On the 6th June 1917. Prince Shivaii was married to Miss Jamanabai. (now known as Princess Indumati Ranisaheb) the accomplished daughter of late Mr. Shankarrao Jagtap, of Saswad in Poona Dist. Born in the noble family of the Jagtaps, she was endowed by nature with personal beauty well as high mental culture which was improved upon by the education, she had received in her parental home. The happy marriage was not to last long. A great shikari Prince Shivaji left for shikar in the Kumbhoj hills, accompained by other members of the Royal family. After some successful pigsticking in the morning, the party halted in a mango grove near Nez. But just when they where about to sit down for a meal, a pig was seen to be running by and the young shikari, Prince Shivajirao, could not resist the temptation of having a tilt at it before his meal.

Away he rode after the little pig and just as his spear touched the animal. the horse, he was riding fell on its knee and the youth was hurled on the ground head downwards. He was taken at once to Dr. Wanless at Miraj. the skill of the doctors, however, failed. and the Prince passed away at 8-45 p.m., on 12th June 1918, leaving behind him his family and a child-widow to mourn his loss. Prince Shivaji was a spirited and bold youth whose comradeship would have been invaluable to his father, and still more, to his brother during his career as the ruler of Kolhapur. His great love of manly independence in all matters would have been a great asset to the Kolhapur people, on whose affairs he would certainly have exercised large influence. The Kolhapur subject commemorated his memory by erecting an equestrian statue of Prince Shivaji and founding Prince Shivai Maratha Boarding and Prince Shivaji Cup for pigsticking.

H. H. Shri Indumati Ranisaheb, was henceforth the recipient of constant care and attention from her father-inlaw, the late H. H. Shahu Chhatrapathi Maharaj of Kolhapur. Every arrangement was made with scrupulous care for her training and education. His Highness intended her to be as well educated as possible and to take charge of female education in his state. Princess Indumati Ranisaheb passed the Matriculation examination of the Bombay University in 1925, and learned French from Miss Kenderick. Government of His Highness has taken in hand the first instalment of a scheme of nationalising the transport system of the State and has established a State Credit Bank for granting long-term loans to the agriculturists and small industrialists of the State. Kierkels, H. E. the Most Rev. Leo Peter, D. D., Apostolic Delegate to the East Indies, was born in Holland on December 12th, 1882. After finishing his elementary studies he entered the Preparatory College of the Passionist Fathers in Belgium. After his religious profession, he was sent successively to the several scholasticates i n France and Jerusalem to complete his ecclesiastical studies. He was ordained priest at Bruges on December 22nd, 1906, and then appointed Professor at Passion ist. International Scholasticate in Rome In 1915 Fr. Leo was appointed Secretary General of the Passionist Congregation and in 1920 Procurator General. In 1921 in company with the Superior General he travelled round the globe visiting every Monastery of the Order. He was thus providentially prepared for the leadership of the whole Passionist Congregation to which he was elected by the General

Chapter in 1925. Meanwhile, his dealings with the Roman Congregations as Procurator General had made him known to the higher ecclesiastical circles and he was appointed Consultor of the Sacred Congregation of Religious When his first term as Propaganda. Superior General, was expiring and his re-election confidently expected, he was appointed Apostalic Delegate to the East Indies, with the dignity of Archbishop of Salamis. On April 26th, 1931, in the presence of the Capitular Fathers of the eighteen Provinces of the Congregation assembled from all over the world. His Eminence Cardinal Van Rossum performed the imposing ceremony of consecrating the new Archbishop. He arrived in Bombay on June 30th, 1931, and reached the seat of the Apostolic Delegation at Bangalore on July 4th. During the six years of his residence in India, Archbishop Kierkels has shown the keenest interest in the duties of his responsible office. On all occasions he has represented not simply the Pope's authority but likewise his fatherly affection and the willingness of the delegate to co-operate heartily with the endeavours of the Hierarchy and missionaries in India makes for a fruitful tenure of office.

The activities of the Delegation refer principally to the dioceses and missions under the authority of Propaganda in India, Burma, Malacca and Ceylon. The Congregation for the Oriental Church, however, also uses the Delegation as intermediary in dealing with the Syro-Malabar and Syro-Seculor Prelates. The Congregation for Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs employs the Delegation in the same capacity in dealing with the diocese of the Portuguese Padroado—Goa, Mylapore and Cochin. As a consequence, the Delegation of the East Indies can easily be considered the most important and responsible "Mission" Delegation in the Church, both for the number of its Catholics and for the great diversity of conditions prevailing in the different regions and ecclesiastical units subject to it.

Chandabhoy, Munchershah N., F. R.I.B.A., M. S. E. (London), Retired Architect, Bombay. In a compilation "The Bombay Presidency" by Somerset Playno F. R. G. S. the following high praise is accorded to Mr. Chandabhoy. "Among the numerous successful architects, engineers, surveyors, and Assessors of loss and damage resulting from fires there is no one in Bombay-one might probably say in the East-who has received a greater measure of confidence from those who are in the position of clients than Mr. Munchershah N. Chandabhoy F. R. I. B. A. M.S.E. London.

Mr. Chandabhoy was born at Surat on 12th May 1856. His father the late Mr. Nasserwanji was a most well-known architect of his day and occupied the responsible position of Professor at the Government Engineering College, Poona. Mr. Munchershah joined his father's firm as a partner in 1879 and at a later date after the death of his father he started his own firm. Mr. Munchershah's great engineering abilities were requisitioned by several leading Mill-owners, Commercial men and other leading citizens. He is responsible for the erection of more than 30 cotton mills, several commercial and residential buildings in Bombay and elsewhere such as the Byramjee Jeejeebhoy Charitable Institution at New Queen's Road, Bombay, Jeejeebhoy Castle at Poona and other remarkably fine bungalows and residential quarters in Bombay City and also in country districts. One of the latest buildings erected by him is the Rustom Building at Church gate Street for the late Mr. Rustomji Byramjee-Jeejeebhoy. The Panday House at Cumballa Hill was also erected by Mr. Chandabhoy for the late Mr. Framji Dorabji Panday. In the book "Bombay Presidency" it is turther said, "Mr. Chandabhoy's great skill as an architect is only equalled by the thoroughness with which he supervises the carrying out of his designs, and the buildings erected by him will remain as a fitting tribute to one who is so intimately connected with the material progress and the social life of the city of his adoption." Besides occupying a front rank as an architect, Mr. Chandabhoy did extensive business as Fire, loss Assessor and Adjuster, and has had unique experience as a valuer of land and buildings and as adjudicator in disputes of different kinds. Mr. Chandabhoy made a great name for himself as Assessor of losses through fires in different parts of the country. Practically all leading English and Foreign Insurance Companies doing business in Bombay utilized his services to their complete satisfaction. We may refer in particular to his work in this respect in 1914 when disastrous fire destroyed cotton goods valued at several lakhs. Several English and Foreign Insurance Companies were involved, and Mr. Chandabhoy acting on behalf of all parties made a number of Awards running into several lakhs of Rupees.

Mr. Chandabhoy was also Agent and Proprietor of several cotton ginning and pressing Companies in Kandesh, Berar and in Malwa.

Mr. Manchershah N. Chandabhoy.

Mr. Chandabhoy retired from active business a couple of years ago, but even in his present advanced age, his services are sometimes requisitioned by clients who have complete confidence in him.

Mr. Chandabhoy is one of the very oldest of Free Masons, and was a Past Master of Lodge Rising Sun No. 556 S. C., Bombay and one of the founders of Lodge Beaman. He joined the Lodge in 1885, and has the unique distinction of being connected with the same Lodge for over fifty years. The Lodge in appreciation of his splendid record, as a Mason, arranged to present him with a valuable souvenir on the Annual Installation Meeting in January 1937, and this Valuable Souvenir was duly presented to him.

Dinshaw, Dinshawjee Hormusjee Cowasjee, Bombay. Second son of late Sir Hormusjee C. Dinshaw, Kt. O. B. E., M, V. O., Mr. Dinshawjee subject, of this life sketch, was born at Aden in September 1887. Like his elder brother, he received his primary and secondary education at the Fort High School, Bombay. He, too, was sent by Sir Hormusjee to England in 1901 for higher studies. In company with his elder brother he joined the Brighton College, London, where he studied for five years. During this period he worked at Messrs. Gray Dawes & Company to get knowledge and experience of shipping. In 1906 he went to Paris, and studied French language there. Like his revered father he holds a good command over this language. In 1906 he also went to Germany and studied German language.

In 1907 Mr. Dinshawjee returned from Europe and joined his father's firm. He was given charge of the Berbera branch of the firm, in 1909. The administration of the firm's branch at Hedeida was handed over to him in 1910. During the year 1911-12 he evinced keen interest in the firm at Camp Aden, and satisfactorily performed his duties. In 1912 he was entrusted with the work of controlling the work of the firm's branch at Zanzibar. For a second time during 1913-14, he was placed at the helm of the firm's offices at Hedeida. In 1916-17 he got first hand practical textile knowlege, in the Burhanpur Tapti Mills at Burhanpur, Central Provinces. He worked in the firm at Aden in 1917-18. Having thus become proficient by acquiring knowledge and experience of every branch of his father's business he was given charge of the administration of the firm at Aden in 1919. Here he controlled the business very satisfactorily with his elder brother. Sir Hormusjee is indeed very pleased and satisfied with the way his sons manage their business. In 1923 Mr. Dinshawjee travelled throughout Egypt and Europe and returned to Aden via Italy. During his tour in Europe he visited Italy, England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria etc., and saw the capitals and principal cities and towns of these countries.

Mr. Dinshawjee takes, like his elder brother, a very keen interest in the public life of Aden. In 1923 he was for the first time appointed as Trustee of the Port of Aden; and during his elder brother's absence, he is usually appointed as a Trustee. Besides, he is a useful and responsible member of the Executive Committee of Aden Settlement. He has rendered valuable services as Hon. Secretary of the Parsee Panchayat at Aden. He is playing a very active and energetic part in the public life of Aden. In this respect he has truly followed in the footsteps of his grand-father, father and elder brother. Mr. Dinshawji is very enlightened, unassuming, modest, shy and ultra-modern in his outlook on life. He is very well-read, cultured and is a good conversationalist and a good anecdotist. He is very fond of music, Eastern as well as Western. He speaks English as well as French fluently. Like Sir Hormusjee, Mr. Dinshawjee is simplicity incarnate. He believes firmly in plain living and high thinking. He possesses a wonderful sense of humour, a critical sense of independence, is a shrewed judge of human nature and has a sympathetic outlook on life. Like his father he is also charitable but his charities are inspired more by reason and intellect than by impulse. He is a staunch Zoroastrian and is very fond of knowing new things. He is very outspoken in expressing his views. Mr. Dinshawjee's hobby is gar-He occasionally goes to dening. pictures. He likes Indian pictures provided they are well acted. He is cool-headed and hardly loses his temper. He is a shrewd businessman and is very popular with merchants and members of his staff. In his young age Mr. Dinshawjee was very fond of collecting photographs. He is also a good traveller and has gone round the whole world. He also went to London in 1935 to participate in the Jubilee Celebrations of His Majesty the late King George V. Mr. Dinshawjee has also travelled extensively in Europe and Asia.

At present Mr. Dinshawji is staying at Bombay and looking exclusively after the management of the Burhanpur Hajeebhoy Aden Salt Works Tapti Mills. He visits Burhanpur occasionally and passess a simple, quiet and unostentatious life in the company of Sir Hormusjee and other members of his family. Mr. Dinshawjee's personality is interesting and lovable. In short, he is an ideal son, an affectionate father, a loving brother and a never failing friend.

Ismail, Sir Mohamud Yusuf, Kt., son of

owner comes of a family of born-Seamen who hailed from Punjab and Sind seven hundred years ago. He is one of the biggest landlords of Bombay, the Island of Novha and Borla in Salsette and Powai and Kanjur in Thana District forming part of his vast estates. The ancestors of Sir Mohamud Yusuf were the first Indians who opened up the Konkan Steam Navigation and it is due to their enterprise that Konkan enjoys its present prosperity.

His great-grandfather first started Coastal passenger service and popularised it so widely that his son late Mr. Hasham could start in the year 1865 a regular Steam Navigation Company without much difficulty which was subsequently converted into the present Bombay Steam Navigation Company. Mr. Hasham was drowned while charting the Dharamtar Creek and was succeed. ed by his son the late Mr. Haji Ismail. Sir Mohamud Yusuf joined the Bombay Steam Navigation Company in the year 1885 and worked with his father. During that period the Bombay Steam Navigation Company made a remarkable progress and owned a huge fleet of steamers costing about a crore of rupees and extended the activities and the utility of the service with the result that a number of new ports were opened on the coast. Owing to the frequency and regularity of the passenger service, it soon earned the enviable title of the "P&O" of the Western India Coast. His father was the Head of the Sunni Muslim Community and magnificiently contributed to a number of charitable institutions in Bombay and gave a sufficient donation for a Public Hall and founded a free Orphanage.

When the Company changed hands in 1906, Sir Mohamud Yusuf found himself in a position to organize and develop his own estates and to take an active interest in the Social and educational uplift of his community. donated a princely sum of Rupees eight lacs in the year 1914 for the establishment of a first-grade Arts College in the Bombay Suburbs, known as the "Ismail College" at Andheri. College which is the first Muslim College in Western India, provides for the higher education of all classes irrespective of caste or creed. opening ceremony of the College in the year 1930 Sir Fredrick Sykes, the then Governor of Bombay said that Sir Mohamud Yusuf took his place among the foremost of the citizens of Bombay and that his memory would be held in the same veneration by future generations of students of the Ismail College as that of Sir Syed Ahmed in Aligarh.

An illustrious son of an illustrious father, Sir Mohamud Yusuf is one of the most distingushed presonalities of the present time doing all that he could do in the cause of the public in general and Muslim Community in particular.

Among Sir Mohamud Yusuf's most conspicuous services to the country at large, is the establishment of a Marine College and a Seamen's Orphanage, the first and only institutions of their kind in India. Located in the beautiful Island of Novha, a part of his vast estates, the Marine College is entirely maintained by him and imparts general, nautical, industrial and technical education under circumstances which are bound to have a deep effect upon the students' careers. It may be said to the credit of Sir Mohamud Yusuf and his family that they were the first to provide for the training of Indians as ship-masters. In addition to these excellent institutions, he has established a Sanatorium at Worli Point in Bombay and he has also founded in Novha a general Hospital, a Sanatorium and a Girls' School and has built tanks and wells at a cost of more than ten lacs of rupees for the use of the public and for the maintenance of which he created, in 1929, a Trust yielding more than half a lac of rupees per annum.

In recognition of his meritorious services to the country as well as to the community, Sir Mohamud Yusuf was created a Knight in 1915. He has now retired from active public life and lives in Novha, his favourite resort, devoting his whole attention to the various charitable institutions.

honesty and perseverance rose to a good position before he died in May 1899. He began his career in the Railway Service and soon became a Railway Contractor undertaking large construction works. But it is in the field of Insurance that his name will always be remembered as the great pioneer of the life and Fire Insurance Companies in Gujerat & Kathiawar, where (Guierat and Kathiawar) he was eventually appointed the Chief Agent for the Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Co. Systems." He was also a Fellow of the Theosophical Society and his works on Theosophy are still remembered amongst Theosophists.

Unfortunately his useful career was cut off at a premature age of 48 which left many of his noble aud cherished enterprises unfinished. However the Insurance Agency and the Agency of the Mill, which he started, bore their fruits in years that followed and his family are still enjoying them.

Nahalladaroo, (Late) Dastoor Sorabji Jamshedii, His ancestors came from

Navsari. He was the First High Priest of P. K. Vakil's Fire Temple at Surat, established in 1823. He was first a Shahanshahi, who later became a Kadmi. A scholar of (Parsee) Persian, Pelhviand Avasta, he possessed a big Library of many rare books pertaining to Zorastrian religion, some of which were taken to Europe by Dr. Hough. He was a leading member of Parsees at Bombay in his time, late Dastoor Sorabji was reputed for his piety. It is believed that when he died, after the Suchkar Ceremony had been performed, the cap that was put on his head fell off, and as none could put it right according to Parsees' Customs, the deceased himself put the cap on and reverted to his original position, an instance which surprised all who were gathered there.

Nahalladaroo. Dastoor Meherwanji Furdoonji Dastoor, High Priest of P.K.

Vakil's Fire Temple. He was born in 1233 (Parsee Year) at Surat; he was educated privately. Married and has three sons and two daughters. Descended from Dastoor Sorab, high Priest in P. K. Vakil's Fire

Temple. He is imparting religious knowledge to students in a school at Surat which he himself has instituted. The well known French woman, Miss Menna who was interested in Zorastrian religion and its ceremonies, visited Dastoor Meherwanji, and was enlightened with the knowledge of religous ceremonies; but infortunately the appreciation which she promised to show has so far not come out. He is a man of charitable disposition, conviction and courage. By nature he is noble—returning good for evil is his character; gardening is his hobby.

496 WHO'S WHO

Naik, Ganpatrao Kalooram, alias Balasaheb, Landlord and Municipal Councillor Poona City. Was born on 22nd October 1913, with a silver spoon in his mouth.

It is significant to observe that, the traditions of this distinguished family are worthily maintained by Mr. Naik.

His intellect is as calm and clear, his reasoning as sound, the expression of his feeling as sober, and the plan of action he announces as practical, as the most exerting judge could desire.

Like his illustrious grand-father, late Rao Bahadur Bhau Mansaram, this young rising man, intends taking up the profession of a building contractor, and at present, is studying in the final year, of the B. E. course, in the college of Engineering Poona. He received his early education, in M. E. S. High School and later on, at the Deccan and Fergusson Colleges.

 His popularity amongst his own colleagues in the college is significantly marked by winning the General Secretaryship of the Annual Social Gathering of the College of Engineering in 1938. There is a gentleness about him, a desire for sympathy, a need for friendship that accounts for his compelling charm.

A keen sport, Mr. Balasaheb Naik, 'has won several trophies, and prizes, in Tennis and Badminton Tournament of the College and outside.

His love for Art, has won for him good many prizes. He is the Life member of the Maharashtra Art Association, and its Chairman for the current year. He was married on 11th May 1938, to Miss Santabai, the eldest daughter of Seth Dattatraya Ramchandra Naik, a well-known land-lord of Bombay, who along with her father, has travelled extensively on the Continent of Europe. The marriage was celebrated with great pomp and splendour, unparalleled in recent years, at Poona.

The election of Mr. G. K. Naik to the Poona City Municipality in October 1938, is one of the notable events in civic history of Poona, for, not only of his success, by coming first in his ward, but for his out distancing all the candidates, in the City. He is the youngest Councillor, elected to the City Municipality. The sterling character, the gaicty of his conversation, the extreme simplicity of his person, the looks beaming with intelligence, will surely enable him to win, fame and glory.

Panday, Sorabji Limji, M. B. E., J. P. First Elected President, Matheran

Municipality from May 1934, and Managing Director, Matheran Hill Light Railway, since March 1927. Born on 18th June, 1868 at Bombay, he was educated at St. Xavier's High School, and Fort High School, Bombay; created J.P. in 1908. He has been a Councillor of the Matheran Municipality since 1909, and its elected first non-official President since 1934.

Mr. Sorabji first joined the well-known firm of Messrs. Ritchie Stewart and Co., in 1888, and after amalgamation in 1903, with Messrs. Forbes, Forbes, Campbell & Co., Ltd., and on his father's retirement, in 1895, he became the Head Salesman, and later, office superintendent. By completing thirty-eight years personal service, and 100 years continuous family service in the firm, Mr. Sorabji has created a record which, it is doubted, can be equalled anywhere in India. His branch of the Panday family has been called the "Piece-Goods" Family. In 1907, he visited Manchester accompanied by his wife. An address was presented to Mr. Sorabii by Mr. E. J. Bunbury, on behalf of Messrs. Forbes, Forbes, Campbell & Co., Ltd., on the occasion of his retirement from the firm on the 11th December 1926.

Mr. Sorabji L. Panday, one of the oldest and most popular residents of Matheran, has, for more than a quarter of a century, spared neither time nor money for the welfare and advancement of the hill station and has been one of the most prominent figures of the health resort, labouring continuosly for the happiness, comfort and convenience of thousands of men, women and children, who flock to the "Daisy of the Hill" for rest and recuperation. He was conferred M.B.E. in 1935. During his regime as President of the Matheran Municipality from 1934 to 1940, Mr. Panday was chiefly instrumental in (a) lightening the burden of taxation in tune with changed circumstances, (b) shaping of the new constitution befitting the local conditions, (c) extension of educational facilities by opening of the English class, (d) radical changes for betterment of sanitation and public health so vital to the station, and these salient features were crowned with the sunny visit of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay Sir Roger Lumley, after 2 decades, on 19th May 1939. The firt words from His Excellency the Governor in reply to the civic address presented to him, were of praise for the efficient and progressive municipality, and amongst other things, His Excellency the Governor said:—

"Your Municipality has made good use of the more extensive powers that devolved upon it when the post of the Superintendent of Matheran was abolished. You have been singularly fortunate in the personality, and enthusiasam of your first non-official President, Mr. Panday, and I trust that those who come after him will no zealously maintain the traditions in which he and all of you have been working so far." The third revised edition of the "Hand Book to Matheran" has been dedicated to Mr. Panday, the First Indian (Parsi) Elected President of the Matheran Hill Station Municipality, whose passionate love for the Hill, and whose devoted and disinterested work for the welfare of the Lease-Holders, the Visitors and the General Public, and in particular, as a Councillor of the Local Municipality, for a period extending over thirty years and as the Managing Director of the Matheran Hill Light Railway since 1927, has made him popularly known as the "UNCROWNED KING OF MATHERAN".

Press. Born on 5th March 1874 and educated at Elphinstone High School. Bombay, After completing his education, he joined his father's business at an early age. He is establishment called "The Nirnaya Sagar Press", was born at Bombay in 1839. His parents being very poor, he was obliged to work for his livelihood from early childhood, and at the age of ten he found employment in the founding branch of the American Mission Printing Press. Here, he received the first lessons in the art, wherein he was destined to earn a great name later on. He remained in the Mission Press for about ten years and then joined the "The Times of India" Press. He then served a number of years in the Induprakash and the Oriental presses, where he perfected his knowledge of type-founding, upon which he made up his mind (in the year 1864) to start a foundry of his own. He soon effected a revoultion in the mode of casting Marathi type and his manufactures, being more graceful and artistic in style than any in the market at the time, grew rapidly in public favour and had an extensive sale. He then established a printing press of his own named "Nirnaya Sagar". The 'Atharva Veda' edited by the late Mr. Shanker Pandurang Pandit, and published by the Bombay Government, bears testimony to the enterprise of Mr. Javaji as a printer. Mr. Javaji Dadaji was a patron of Marathi and Sanskrit literature and at considerable pecuniary sacrifice, he published many valuable new and old works in those languages. By means of energy, industry and integrity in business, he attained to a foremost position and was made a Justice of the Peace by Government. He was by nature kind-hearted and was ever ready to help the needy. He died on April 5, 1892 at the comparatively early age of fifty-three.

Mr. Tukaram Javaji after the demise of his worthy father Javaji conducted the establishment with the same zeal and promptitude of his father and made a name in business circles. He greatly extended the type casting and printing business and brought out many valuable Sanskrit books and added fresh laurels to the reputation of the Press and Foundry founded by his beloved father. In all these activities Mr. Tukaram Javaji was associated by his brother, Mr.Pandurang Javaji, the present proprietor of the establishment, known as "Javaji Dadaji Type Foundry and Nirnaya Sagar Press". Mr. Tukaram Javaji died in 1918.

He built up a huge business in the short span of his life, solely relying on his own efforts, honesty and integrity. He succeeded in realising his dream to establish a perfumery business a life to which he was goaded by his hobby to pluck flowers, crush petals and endeavour to retain their perfume in liquid form. In the year 1910 when he was stepping out of teens he started production of soaps and toiletries. He toured Europe in 1934 visiting big and small perfumery concerns in England and the Continent and studying methods that would put the production and marketing of the 178 different types of perfumes and toilet preparations manufactured by Messrs. E. S. Patanwala on a better footing. He made his selling department a limited concern, which has been working under the style of Patanwala Limited since 1936. Mr. Patanwala's example should be emulated by our young folks who want to carve out their own future. Mr. Patanwala who died in 1939 leaves behind him a big family, and a vast circle of friends and admirers to mourn his loss. His death is no doubt a great loss to the perfume industry in the country.

Shet Lackhichand Lalvani, a wealthy merchant of Jamner, wanted to adopt a son and Mr. Rajmal was chosen out of twelve candidates. This was a big stride in the tide of his fortune. This however, did not change his attitude on life and he was the same modest Rajmal of "simple habits and high thinking" as he was before. He was a great favourite of Shet Lackhichand till the latter's death about thirty years ago. The burden of managing a big estate fell on the tender shoulders of Rajmal who was only thirteen when his adopted father died.

During the Great War, he gave a War loan of Rs. 50,000 and sent some recruits for the War. The Government was highly pleased and placed his statue at Jalgaon and gave him a free license for all kinds of Arms. In 1923, he took part in Mahatma Gandhi's Non-co-operation Movement. He was was then elected to the Bombay Legislative Council. He was also President of Akhil Aharatiya Oswal Mahasabha. gold and silver-sheet makers. Zaveri Bazar, Bombay. The founder of this factory situated at Zaveri Bazar, Bombay, which bears the unique reputation of being the biggest gold and silver melting, refining and rolling sheets factory in India, was Mr. Dossabhai Rustomii Choksi who started this business in 1872 by setting up a crude furnace and employing a handful of men. After surmounting a lot of obstacles and difficulties he gradually expanded the business and succeeded in gaining the trust and confidence of the public and the big bullion merchants of Zaveri Bazar and at the time of his death in 1922, left it as the foremost concern of its kind in India. Being a very enterprising man, he had gone to Europe in 1912 to see the lines on his factory the necessary changes, and also had set up a new side industry to the main concern of preparing rolled silver sheets, wire, etc.

After his death the business was ably continued by his son Mr. Ratanii, but unfortunately his promising career was cut short by his sudden death within four years, and the voke of responsibility of carrying on the business fell on the shoulders of his two young sons Nariman and Jalbhoy. Both the brothers, ably assisted by their cousin Mr. Kekhusroo H. Hadvaid, have followed in the footsteps of their able father and grandfather and have kept up the old traditions of the business, and have quite recently further expanded the concern by setting up a new furnace capable of melting 18,000 tolas, i. e., 450 lbs. of gold and silver at a time, and starting a bullion refining works at Mazagon.

Marolia Brothers, Oil Merchants, Navsari. One hundred and seventy years ago, three young children were brought to Navsari by their maternal uncle. As their maternal uncle had no direct heir, he left his property to these children which included one ox, one buffalo, one bullock cart, one acre of land and a small house. These children had to spend Rupees one thousand after their maternal uncle's funeral ceremony. The youngest of these children was Vasanji. He took to business and by a sharp intelligence, and hard efforts, made his way through all the difficulties and established himself as a good businessman. One of his generous actions, which deserves notice was that he distributed all the food stuffs he had stored from business among the poor during the famine in the year Samvat 1932. Two of his sons, Datar Dahyabhai and Sjt. Khandubhai are well known.

Datar Dahyabhai, born in Navsari in Samvat 1932. Having received some education, he took to business and started an oil mill. By concentration in his work and strict honesty, he became very well off. Started his donations, first by meeting the expenses of the reception of the Anavil Conference. His total donations, amount to Rs. 55,000. The chief of them are as under:--A flight of steps on the Dudhia Talao: A wall around the statue of the late Maharaja Saheb of Baroda: Water fountains in four directions in Navsari and water troughs along with them; A Dharmasala for Hindus: A Kitchen House for S.P.H. High School Hostel, Bordi: 12 bighas of the land for the Shastri Memorial A. V. School, Maroli: To commemorate his mother's name he gave 20,000 to the Hindu Maternity Home, Navsari. In appreciation of these donations. H. H. the Maharaja Pratap Singh Gaekwad awarded a medal of the Order of Donors (Datar).

Sit. Khandubhai, born at Navsari in Samvat 1936. He studied up to Matriculation Class and worked as a Hd. Clerk of a trustee of a reputed Parsee family in Bombay. Then he came over to Navsari and began to intesest himself in the public activities. A member, Navsari Municipality for 15 years and worked for 5 years as a member of Dist. Local Board; a popular Vice-President of the Taluka Local Board for 6 years; Director for 5 years of the Dist. Co-operative Bank, Navsari. His share in starting a High School and a Maternity Home at Navsari is considerable. He is still serving quite selflessly in the following institutions as:-Trustee and Treasurer of Garib Vidyarthi Sahayak Mandal, Navsari; Shastri Memorial A. V. School, Maroli; late Bhaktibhai Durlabhbhai Prachin Vaidic Trust; Trustee, Treasurer and Secretary of Shrimati Kashiba Vasanji Marolia Hindu Maternity Home. Navsari; Vice-President, Navsari Vyapari Mandal, Navsari; Member, Dist. Economic Board, Navsari. The Marolia Brothers are well known in the Anavil Community as reformers, and as workers for the uplift of the Community. As businessman, they have established their reputation, as honest and truth-loving Address-Navsari. merchants.

Shrimati Kashiba Vasanji Marolia Hindu Maternity Home, Navsari. A well-equipped Lying-in-Hospital for the Hindu Female Public of Navsari was a long-felt necessity. The honour and credit of bringing into being such a Hospital in Navsari is mainly due to a benevolent citizen of the place. Mr. Ochhavlal Hargovandas Bhagat in whose mind, the idea first germinated and who, intending to carry it out immediately, undertook to contribute a sum of Rs. 1200 - annually for three years, for defraying the expenses of the Hospital. He also appointed a managing Committee for the purpose, and as a result of his zeal and generosity, the present institution came into being on the 28th January 1932.

The beginning of the Hospital was made in a building hired for the purpose and it started with only four beds, but immediately five more beds were added, In spite of these nine beds, the wants gradually increased. Under such circumstances and in order that many more Hindu public may avail of this itstitution, the Managing Committee thought it essential and indispens> able to have a building owned by the institution itself. The committee, therefore, purchased a piece of land, having a beautiful sight on the station road and constructed a wellequipped modern styled building at a cost of Rs. 33.328-11-3 only; Out of this amount, Rs. 10,000 - are donated by Sheth Nagindas Jivanji and the building is named 'Sheth Nagindas Jivanji Building'. Sheth Nagindas Jivanji, Landlord and Banker, Navsari. Born on 10th Posh Vadva.

Samvat Is the President of 1924.

Sheth Nagindas Jivanji.

Navsari Hindu Mahajan and also a trustee of Jain Temple. In 1936, he donated Rupees 11,500 for the construction of the building of Shrimati Kashiba Vasanji Marolia Hindu Maternity Home at Navasri.

The institution has engaged at present, one qualified Lady Doctor, two passed Nurses, two Ayas, one Bhangi and one male servant. Though the institution is exclusively meant for the Hindu public, they after engaging a Lady Doctor, have also started a dispensary for the treatment of females of all communities irrespective of caste and creed, as outdoor patients.

Besides the services of the staff in extraordinarily serious cases to bring within the reach of all classes, rich and poor, the institution has fixed the sum of Rs. 10 - as fees for ten days' treatment for each delivery case. Out of the said amount is covered the expenses of medical nursing treatment, tea, biscuits, milk, clothes etc., of the patient, whereas the same actually costs the institution on an average from about Rs. 25 to 27 each. The losses have to be made good from the contributions and funds collected by the institution. The average cases of deliveries per year are 150.

In order to obtain the upkeep funds for the institution apart from the collections that may be made, the institution has also arranged that the name of the donor of Rs. 2500 - should be attached to a bed. Five gentlemen have responded to this arrangement, and they are:

1 Datar Dahyabhai Vasanji Marolia Rs. 2500 -. 2 Messrs. Topiwala Bros. Rs. 2500 -. 3 Messrs. Gandhi Bros. Rangoon Rs. 2500 -. 4 Sjt. Narandas Bhagwandas Derivalla Rs. 2500 -. 5 Sjt. Bapubhai Khandubhai Marolia Rs. 2501 -.

The Committee has resolved to set aside such 'bed' collections as reserved fund and to utilize only the interest in defraying the upkeep expenses of the institution.

The trust deed of the said institution has been registered on 4th April, 1936. According to its 14th clause, Datar Dahyabhai Vasanji Marolia has donated Rs. 20,000 - to commemorate the name of his mother to the institution. Henceforth, it is named 'Shrimati Kashiba Vasanji Marolia Hindu Maternity Home'. It has now Rs. 32,000 - as reserve fund.

wood as bats, marbles, or corks of the then Soda water bottles as balls, and slippers, boots or pieces of wood as wickets resting against walls. At about the age of 12 or so, he was allowed to play with Collegians through the kindness of his cousins the late "Rustomba Patel" (first Native Judge of the small causes Court) & "Dady Frith", where in a scratch game he scorded some 32 runs the top score to the surprise of some and to the great chagrin of then Captain Mr. Hirjibhai Davar; for this performance he was awarded a "Spring" bat a very rare thing at the time by his cousin the late Mr. N. M. Patel, late Managing Agent, the Singer Sewing Machine Company. Then he joined the Spartan Cricket Club. He was one of the three chief Promoters and Founders of the ELPHINSTONE CRICKET CLUB, which originated from the Spartan Cricket Club on 28th January 1873. He was one of its two proprietors. This Elphinstone

Cricket Club turned out to be the best and most flourishing institutions and was able to rear for itself a local habitation and a name of a permanent character.

Bai Ratanbai and Hirjibhai Patel Sanatorium, Hirji Patel Wadi, Teethal.

It started with 13 members, which number soon rose to 50, and then to some 300 or 400 at one time. Dr. Patel was its late Vice-President and enjoyed all posts with the exception of that of the President. In its early days, the Club started a "Band" of its own in which the late Mr. Jehangir Murzban of 'Jame-Jamshed' took active part and Dr. Patel was its Hon. Secretary. The Elphinstone Cricket Club has done Dr. Patel an unique honour by unanimously appointing him an honorory member, intimating him at the same time that it was the first time that a member had thus been honoured. Dr. Patel won prizes in all the prize-matches in which he took part with one exception. His 110 in one of these fixtures (1875) was the highest score made by a Parsee cricketer in any important Match, in other words, he was the first Parsee (rather Indian) to score a century. The Club report says "The most notable of the Matches won by the club was the Prize-Match of 1875 which established the reputation of the Club on a sound unshaken basis". And it might be added here that the Purse won re this Match formed, at the instance of Dr. Patel, the nucleus of the Club's Reserve Fund which then stood at some of Rs. 60/- growing as time went on to sum of Rs. 20,000 - or more. The Club report concludes by saying, "It is only just to state that this Club owes its very existence and the high respectable position it now occupies among Parsee Cricket Clubs to the creditable zeal and energy of Messrs (Drs.) B. Dantra, D. H. Patel and others.

1877-under great difficulties by the great Ardeshir Patel as the Bombay English Gymkhana had persistently declined to play with the Parsees as being too below themselvess in point of strength) and acquitted himself with credit. He also took part in two representative fixtures—one under Col. Hogg, 66th Regiment which had a week previous given a defeat to the Bombay Gymkhana and another composed of Europeans from Karachi, Poona, Belgaum, etc. got up by Col Fellows and called the "Mofussil Team" (a sort of Presidency Team). Here in both these Matches, the Parsees were victorious and he (Dr. Patel) "did well for his side". In 1878 the Parsees played with the European Gymkhana of Bombay and "should have suffered a crusing defeat but for Dr. D. H. Patel and Mr. B. B. Baria, who saved ignominy by pulling the Match through to an even draw. Dr. D. H. Patel did the right thing at the right time and baffled the bowlers by the plucky way in which he hit all round the wicket. The successes during this important period (1875-1878) but chiefy in 1877 begot into the head of Mr. A. B. Patel the very bold idea of taking a Parsee team to England on a cricketing tour" (see group of the Parsee Team (1873-77) in "Parsees and Sports", page 94). After mentioning some of the well-known exponents of the game at that period, Mr. J. M. F. Patel writes in his cricket book, "Dr. Kapadia and Dr. Dhunjishaw Patel (both of the Elphinstone Cricket Club) were the pick of the bunch and had few equals in batting and bowling. Dr. Patel unfortunately gave up Cricket early for the practice of medicine which was a great loss to Cricket."

Dr. Patel was the Captain of the First Parsee (Indian) Cricket that visited England in 1886. A Match between Prince Christian Victor's Team vs. the First Parsee Team was arranged at the express desire of the Oueen in 1886. Carriages were sent to meet Dr. D. H. Patel and his comrades at Windsor and on their arrival, they were cordialy received by His Royal Highness Prince Christian as well as the Princess. At lunch, Prince Christian proposed The Health of the Parsee Cricketers praising their pluck to undertake such a trip to get a better knowledge of the English national game. In reply Dr. Patel expressed the great gratification felt by the Parsee Team at the uniformly warm welcome extended to them by all classes and on all sides from the commencement to the close of the tour. A lawn Party was given by the Royal Hosts in honour of the Parsee Cricketers. A lasting memento of that Match is preserved in the shape of a photograph." Dr. Patel all along proved himself the brain of the team, ably skippering the Eleven. He was very popular with his men and did fairly well with bat and ball". He came off second in batting. (Innings 35, 7 times not out Runs 423, most in an innings 55 (not out), average 15.3) and third in bowling (212 overs and maidens 66 overs) average 24.4). "The team won the respect of English Cricketers of every class by the pluck they displayed in the face of continuous reverses, as well as the esteem of all with whom they came into contact by their modesty of demeanour as well as their social qualites generally. A visit of a team of Parsee (native Indian) Cricketers to England was an event of no small significance, not only from the standpoint of cricket but also from a political point of view. "Anything which could tend to promote an assimilation of tastes and habits between the English and natives subjects of our Empress-Queen could not fail to conduce to the solidarity of the British Empire. Parsee fraternity is the most intelligent as well as the most loyal of the races scattered over our Indian possessions. Their visit to England (1886) avowedly undertaken with an educational object to improve their cricket. difficulties necessarily to be surmounted before such a trip could have been carried out must have been immense and Englishmen could not fail to thoroughly appreciate the motives which induce Dr. Patel and his comrades to attempt such a heavy and costly tour. It is not exaggeration to say that this visit of a Parsee team will stand out conspicuously as one of the most pleasant memories of English ricketers of the present generation". Writing to the English Press he (Dr.

Patel) said "In once more saying farewell we cannot resist expressing our sincere thanks for the flattering honours that have been showered down upon us by all classes. Our gratitude however is due in the first place to their Royal Highnesses Prince & Princess Christian, to Lords Sheffield, Harris, Wenlock, Lytleton, Bulkeley (better known as Sir Thomas Brassey &c. &c. for their kindness and friendly encouragement which we have received at their hands".

Dr. Patel played Football also and Tennis as well and was an expert at stilts when quite a boy and also an adept at the native games of Ata Pata and gilidandu always leading a side against his old friend Dr. R. Kapadia. Though Parade ground (Azad Maidan) was the seat of his youth, where every sport could please, he had placed cricket and cricket matches on all available vacant spaces (maidans) between Dhobi Talao and Band Stand except the "Oval" He is now the oldest cricketer living, aged 85 years.

As an encouragement Dr. Patel presented "Cups and Shields" in connection with various sports: To "The Poona Parsi Volunteer Corps" a cup for shooting in memory of his father, Seth Hirjibhai, a big Cup-board to "Sir D. M. Petit Parsi Gymkhana Poona" for keeping sporting goods on behalf of Parsi Cricketers in memory of the late Seth Sorabjee Bengalee. He donated more than 20 Cups, 17 or so in connection with some 300 Primary Schools of the Surat District as an encouragement to little boys regarding Native Sports in memories of Seth Sorabji Bengalee, the great A. B. Patel, J. M. F. Patel, Dr. B. H. Dantra and R. B. Batlivala and Dr. Patel's parents and in honour of his brother Mr. N. Patel the first President of the Elphinstone Cricket Club; 3 shields are presented to the Gujrat School Athletic Association, Ahmedabad for cricket, Hockey and Foot ball in memory of Seth Sorabji Bengalee, a great patron of all manly sports and established in 1938 one shield in Bombay Re Seth Sorabji Bengale Prize-Matches.

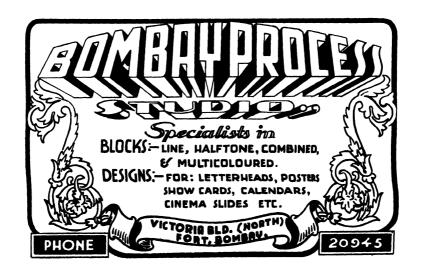

He got his L. M. & S degree in 1883-'84, He was Physician, Secretary and Companion to the late Sir Mangaldas Nathoobhoy, Kt. 1884-1886 and again in 1889-1890. by a country craft for China in the days (that is in 1858) when regular steamers were not available. This he did at a very young age of 20. Being industrious and painstaking he developed his business undertaking in a very satisfactory manner and soon promised a very successful His first trip to China occupied three years and during this time having made his fortune he returned to Bombay by P. & O. Steamer which had begun service only very recently. His object of returning to Bombay was to take his wife to China and to settle there with family.

With his wife Hamabai, he also took his two younger brothers, Jamshedji and Jeewaji. In those days, there were not even half a dozen Parsi ladies in China and Hamabai was the first lady to deliver two sons and daughter in a foreign land of China. Mr. Tarachand spent very happily about ten years with his family in China and after that he returned to Bombay to celebrate the Navjot ceremony of his eldest child, Dinsha. However, fortune did not favour him and the child expired before the ceremony could be performed. Then, he returned alone to China but this time his fortune was against him and so returned to Bombay. As is always the case with hard-working people, Mr. Tarachand did not like to spend his days in Bombay and so, he undertook a trip for Africa, but no good luck was at his side with the result that he had to return to Bombay and led a few years somewhat unhappily.

In 1880 he determined to lead a business life and started ice business in Crawford Market on a small scale. This small business he developed very soon and took contracts of about two or three ice factories.

Mr. Tarachand was in a very flourishing condition when he died in 1905 leaving behind him a widow and three sons, Rustomji, Cowasji and Pestonji and one daughter, Ruttonbai. These three sons of Mr. Tarachand with their brother-ining two sons of Mr. Tarachand continued business. Mr. Cowasji died in 1931 leaving behind him his widow, two sons, Eruch and Jehangir and three daughters. Piroja, Khorshed and Rati. The widow of Cowasji withdrew her share from the business and then, Mr. Pestonji took over one Irani gentleman Gustad M. Aga as a partner and continues business which is to-day one of the biggest concerns of the kind in Bombay, and the factory is equipped with latest machineries.
